Use Cases

TOKEN ISLAM

TOKEN ISLAM is built on the Islam compliant blockchain and serve as a valid means of payment and provide a wide range of use cases through partnerships with vendors, NGOs, payment partners and other institutions to make donation fast and secure.

DIGITAL BANKING PARTNERS

We will work with banking partners to provide a fully digital banking solution that allows users to manage and use their funds and obtain financing under Islamic finance standards.

GLOBALIZED MONEY TRANSFER

Most donations and money remittances often take place across countries and are restricted by high fees and wire costs within the traditional banking system. Moreover, corrupt officials, government entities, and third parties often have access to disrupt such transfers.

How Does It Work?

LEDGER-BASED TRACKING SYSTEM

Most traditional donation systems do not have any direct form of tracking system whereby the donor can be completely sure that his/her money has successfully transferred to their beneficiaries. However, with a cryptocurrency-based donation system, the donor can track every stage of the donation transfer process through the decentralized ledger feature of its underlying blockchain technology.

ASSET INVESTMENT

The fact that cryptocurrencies are volatile and generally fluctuate in value may prove to be an asset or a liability to those who make the move to such a donation system. However, the trend of cryptocurrencies over time seems to affirm the fact that they have been increasing in value with the cycle of increased user adoption and hence, employing a cryptocurrency-based donation system would be beneficial for such donation purposes as an investment.

LARGER DONATION POOL

The fact that cryptocurrency users are not restricted to a few countries or regions proves to be a huge asset when prospective donation companies start considering them as a mode of payment. Cryptocurrency users tend to be a diverse group scattered all around the world and hence, this coupled with the fact that globalized money transfers carry no fees whatsoever would be a game-changer for individuals, organizations, and companies contemplating a move to cryptocurrency-based donation systems. Cryptocurrencies also allow for anonymity because the donors' name, personal information, and identity is not disclosed within the decentralized ledger and hence, this may conform with the libertarian beliefs of those within the crypto community who could choose to be truly anonymous philanthropists for the very first time.
